

CARINGhouse

2022-2023 IMPACT REPORT

Caring House provides patients at Duke Cancer Institute with peace of mind through affordable housing, a healing environment, and a positive and supportive community.

A WORD from our Executive Director

When I reflect back on FY23, I am delighted with everything Caring House accomplished. We exceeded our Annual Fund goal by 14%, a large part of that being our record-breaking Gala where our net income was over $190,000! Even with a small renovation to replace the closets in our guest rooms, our average occupancy rate was over 93%.

Outside of looking at our year by numbers, the energy of the house is positive, uplifting, and cheerful. Guests are playing our piano and practicing saxophone, filling the house with beautiful music, and our volunteers are busy greeting everyone with a bright smile and making dinners for guests.

You would never guess that our guests are experiencing hardship given the cheer and laughter that you hear every day. I am so grateful for everyone in our community who makes this all possible - staff, board members, volunteers, donors, Duke Staff. Thank YOU for making this year a success.

With gratitude,

Sasha

SIX YEARS OF SUPPORT

We're so grateful for our longtime volunteer team from local church, The Restoration Place!

This group of dedicated volunteers has been preparing meals and sharing their kind spirit at Caring House for the past SIX YEARS. They help make our house a home. Here's to the next six years!

GUEST SPOTLIGHT

..... "An Answered Prayer"

There are stained glass square jars on each of the Caring House staff's office desks. The pieces are crafted by Caring House guest, Pope Floyd. Pope and his wife Debbie have been married for 46 years. They are thoughtful and kind, finishing each other's sentences and tearing up when describing what Caring House means to them. Pope, an electrician by trade, also creates beautiful art as a hobby, including wooden animal wall hangs, paintings, and stained glass pieces just like the ones he gifted to our team at the end of his stay. Debbie works as a hospice nurse on the weekends, after 15 years in the medical care field.

The couple arrived at Caring House in July for their five week stay during Pope's cancer treatment at Duke Cancer Institute. A routine colonoscopy for Pope led to a surprising cancer diagnosis. "He had no symptoms, no idea. So early detection was definitely key for us," said Debbie. Pope and Debbie are from Fairmont, NC, a town two hours from Durham. With a treatment plan involving six weeks of radiation, they knew a daily commute to Durham wasn't feasible.

For many cancer patients, the experience is one of loneliness, exhaustion, and stress. Cancer can make your world stop. On top of learning about the disease, finding quality care, keeping track of appointments, going to treatments and recovering from them; the everyday burdens and stressors of life still exist. The groceries need to be bought, the car needs to be filled up, the dogs need to be fed, the laundry done, the bills paid. But at Caring House, these daily worries fade away, as our guests are able to focus completely on treatment and healing.

"This organization and the atmosphere that it provides for people going through the worst time in their life, is worth everything. There are just no words to say how much it's meant to us. At a time in your life when you don't know which direction to go, this has been a center point for us. It's kept us where we can breathe," Pope and Debbie said.

The couple spoke about the cleanliness of Caring House, and the comforting words from staff, volunteers, and other guests. They mentioned the meals provided by organizations and individuals in the community, who share not just food, but their loving spirit as well. Pope mentioned how much he loved the massages provided weekly, while Debbie spoke about the art therapy and evening performances by local musicians. The two also shared how they've found community through conversations with other guests. "The whole journey of interaction with the people here has meant the most to me. It has felt like family," Debbie said.

Though they kept repeating that they did not have the words to describe their experience here, it seems as though they did in fact have the words - an overflowing amount of kind sentences and touching moments to share.

"It has meant everything to us. It's made the ordeal acceptable. I can deal with it. I don't know if I could have dealt with it if I didn't have this. But this has given me a setting that has been unbelievable. I never dreamed I could be away from home for five weeks, and still be okay with the situation. And by being here, I'm okay with the situation," Pope said as he choked up.

"It is an answered prayer. I've got a lot of people praying for me, and I'm like 'hey, your prayers are being answered. Thank you for your prayers.'"

Our 2023 Annual Benefit Gala brought together over 330 people at the Washington Duke Inn for a "Night Among the Stars." Caring House honored Dr. Donald McDonnell, Glaxo-Wellcome Professor of MCB, Department of Pharmacology and Cancer Biology at Duke University School of Medicine, and Mrs. Mary McDonnell, former Caring House volunteer. We also featured former guest, Niki Plomaritis, as speaker of the evening, who shared her inspiring story of her cancer journey and time spent at Caring House.

With a live band, glittering tablecloths, delicious food, custom cocktails, and a live auction, guests were able to enjoy the night among friends and community members in support of our home away from home. Thanks to our sponsors, donors, and attendees, our 2023 Gala raised a net total of $199,249!

We are overflowing with gratitude for everyone who came together to celebrate Caring House and made it one of our most memorable events yet!
